treating the fabric with an aqueous formaldehyde solution and catalyst for catalyzing a reaction between formaldehyde and the fabric; and introducing said fabric into an air circulating oven having an elevated temperature of at least about 300°F to subject the treated fabric directly to the elevated temperature for reaction of the formaldehyde with the fabric to enhance the property of the fabric; wherein the fabric is unresinated.--

--22. (New) A process according to claim 21, wherein the amount of formaldehyde on the fabric is from 0.56% to 7.4%, on weight of fabric.--

--25. (New) A process according to claim 21, wherein the composition comprises sufficient formaldehyde such that the amount of a 37%, by weight, formaldehyde solution on the fabric is from 1.5% to 20%, on weight of fabric.--

--26. (New) A process according to claim 21, wherein the fabric is provided with a silicone elastomer.--

--27. (New) A process according to claim 21, wherein the aqueous formaldehyde solution further comprises an elastomeric silicone emulsion.-- wherein the fabric is unresinated and comprises protein fibers.--

--29. (New) A process according to claim 28, wherein the fabric is provided with a silicone elastomer.--

--30. (New) A process according to claim 28, wherein the aqueous formaldehyde solution comprises sufficient formaldehyde such that the amount of a 37%, by weight, formaldehyde solution on the fabric is from 1.5% to 20%, on weight of fabric.--
